OUR NAVAL DEMONSTRATION.

Next Monday the greatest fleet of warships that has ever flown the American flag will set out from New York.
Already a part of the fleet has started, the list including the torpedo boats and destroyers, those stilettoes of naval warfare. Down the Atlantic coast and around Cape Horn into Pacific waters the great array of floating forts will travel, its ultimate destination being San Francisco.

At no time in the history of the nation has such a demonstration been attempted. The cruise is to be for practice purposes, according to the statement of Admiral Dewey, but the gray old sea fighter coupled that announcement with a further one to the effect that if it was necessary for the fleet to do any work in Pacific waters it would be ready to do that work.

The cost of the cruise will be tremendous, but the impressiveness of the demonstration, the object lesson it will afford to the nations of the world, and especially to the Japanese, will be abundant compensation for the outlay.
For provisions alone hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended.
Uncle Sam is not stinting his men in this particular. Indeed, some of the foreign observers have said that the government was spoiling the sailors with the excellence and wide variety of the food that will be served them.

For instance, 8,000 pounds of turkey are being taken along for Christmas dinner. This is approximately a pound for every jackie in the fleet. Some of the other big items are: Flour, 1,300,000 pounds; potatoes, 1,500,000 pounds; sugar, 1,400,000 pounds. There are in the store rooms a million pounds of beef, nearly a million pounds of canned tomatoes, a third of a million pounds of milton and pork, a hundred thousand pounds of butter and a like amount of coffee. The total weight of the foodstuffs is upwards of 8,500,000 pounds.

Also for the jackies are peaches, nuts, thousands of dozens of eggs, sardines, salmon, string beans, cheese, dried apples, rolled oats. Your Uncle Samuel, when he makes up his mind to be a generous boarding master, does the thing handsomely. On that point there can be no argument. If the sea fighters don't wax fat and hearty on this cruise it will not be the fault of the commissary department.

If the provisions were piled up in a pyramid they would make a stack taller than any three buildings in Salt Lake placed one on top of the other, and the pile would have greater dimensions at the base than any of our buildings.

DRUNKENNESS AS A DEFENSE.

A few days ago in Chicago a drunken beast entered the room of a young woman and attacked her. He was frightened away by the barking of a dog.
The man was later arrested and placed on trial. He did not deny his guilt, but his attorneys pleaded that he had always been a man of good character, and that he would never have been guilty of this crime if he had not been so drunk as to be irresponsible. The court held that the man should be acquitted, and he was accordingly set free.

The decision is one that will shock those who believe that our courts were established for the purpose of enforce-ing the law. To say that because a man is drunk when he commits a crime he should not be convicted is to set a premium on drunkenness. The truth is that a very large percentage of offenses against our statutes are committed by men who are partly or wholly under the influence of some intoxicant. The records of every jail and penitentiary in the land show this to be the case.

And no court has held prior to the Chicago decision that drunkenness is a valid defense. If that were true, seven-tenths, at least, of the defendants who are brought to bar would be discharged. Intoxicants give men courage to commit crimes that they would not dare to commit if they did not indulge in intoxicants. They know before they drink that it will make them drunk.
They are sober men when they begin to drink, and they are responsible for the drinking. Therefore they are responsible straight through, no matter what happens.

As a contemporary remarks, that Chicago judge said, in effect.

"This might have happened to anybody. Let us show our sympathy for the poor man who was bitten by a girl and a dog and then locked up by a big policeman just because he thoughtlessly tried to commit a crime. If men were to be punished for what they do when they are drunk it would not be safe for a man to drink too much. No matter what you do (when drunk) if your heart be only true (when sober)."

We wonder if the Chicago judge knows that the great wave of prohibition that is sweeping over the south had its origin almost entirely in the crimes committed by drunken men, both whites and black. We wonder if he knows that the good citizens down there are glad to surrender the privilege of drinking occasionally in order to make it impossible, as nearly as may be, for the criminal element to secure intoxicants.

Those southern men have come to a full realization of their danger, and they are meeting the situation like real men.
Too much credit cannot be given them, nor too much contempt to the judge who would make drunkenness an excuse for crime.

Secretary Bonaparte is to tell an athletic club in Chicago whether Mr.
Roosevelt will or will not. It is quite possible Messrs. Fairbanks, Taft and one or two other more or less distinguished gentlemen will look the papers over very carefully the next morning.

A New York judge has decided that a lease may be broken because the janitor listens on a tenant's party telephone line. Outrageous! First thing we know we'll have to stop joking about the janitor as a monarch of all things worth having.

The morning after President Roosevelt's message was read to congress, the leading editorial in one of our Washington contemporaries was headed: "Why Can't We Have More and Cheaper Gas?" It certainly is hard to satisfy some people.

An enormous crop of spelt is reported from South Dakota. What, don't you know what spelt is? Well, we really are surprised at your ignorance. Every schoolboy ought to know.

A St. Louis contemporary wants to know why Bryan shouldn't have the nomination. It should ask something easier. Mr. Bryan himself couldn't answer such a question.

The perseverance of the weather man has been rewarded at last. He has predicted snow every day for a long time. Now, lo! and likewise behold! the snow has come.

Poor old Chicago is looking forward to a dull Christmas this year. Two breweries burned down there the other day. However, Chicago's loss is Milwaukee's gain.

Awful calamities were predicted for November by those astrologers. Now don't you feel glad that the month is safely over?

A LITTLE LATE.

It is a little late in the evening of life to regret the improvident noontide.
But there should be no occasion for matterial regrets. The advantages of our system of supplying a home to people who want to own their own places can so readily be taken that really the buying of a home involves no more than the amount a man in moderate circumstances with a family would be obliged to pay for rent.

The houses we are offering for sale on Ninth avenue afford an easy means of getting away from the landlord.
They are well built, modern, brand new and constructed so well that we are willing to make long time loans on any of them—that is we are willing to allow you to make long time payments, because we know what Greater Salt Lake is going to do, and consequently know the value of good realty.

We want you to call at 433 C street, get the keys to these houses and look them over. Then come in and tell us which one you want. The matter can be easily arranged and it will be a very brief time until you will have a home of your own.

SOCIETY

The Archaeological Society of Utah has issued invitations for their annual meeting to be held with Mrs. Byron Cummings Saturday evening at the library building of the university. The annual election of officers will take place, but before that a short program will be rendered, including, besides some musical numbers, talks by Burt Armstrong, Dean Byron Cummings and Neil Judd, all relating to their recent San Juan trip. Refreshments back after that trip will be displayed and the whole will be followed by a social hour.

The freshmen of the university will make their entry into the social life of the college Friday evening, by the annual freshman dance. It will be given in the assembly hall of the museum building. The freshmen will carry out the moonlight effect during most of the dances and the scheme for the second dance is therefore, "The dance will be under the patronage of President and Mrs. F. T. Kingsbury, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Merrill, Dean and Mrs. Byron Cummings, Dr. and Mrs.
W. C. Ebaugh, Dr. and Mrs. L. W.
Hartman and Prof. and Mrs. Levi Edgar Young.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Dillingham and Earle Midgley took place at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Midgley home. The ceremony was performed by Hamilton G. Park in the presence of the relatives, and later a large reception for about seventy-five of the friends of the young people was held. Mr. and Mrs. Midgley will shortly be at home at 78 West Fifth South street.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Kerr and her little daughter Ruth will be here on Sunday to spend the holiday season with the Le Grande family. Mr.
Kerr will come on before Christmas to join them. Mrs. J. H. Young and her little daughter have returned to Berkeley, where Mr. and Mrs. Young will shortly make their home.

Mrs. Windsor V. Rice entertained a few of her friends yesterday afternoon at bridge, four tables of the game being played. The prizes were won by Mrs. Arthur H. Bird, Mrs.
Karl A. Scheid, Mrs. J. P. McGeath and Mrs. George C. Moore. The hostess was assisted by her little daughter and son, Isabel and Gordon Rice.

Among those who will entertain stall parties at the symphony concert tomorrow afternoon are Mr. and Mrs.
Thomas W. Jennings, Governor and Mrs. John C. Cutler, Mrs. Samuel Newhouse and Miss Pearl Van Cott.
Mrs. Karl A. Scheid will entertain a party of friends in a loge.

The marriage of Miss Adah Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bean, to Richard Rudolph Esselman, will take place this evening at 8:30, at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding will be a quiet one, with only the relatives present, and the bride and groom will leave immediately for the coast.

Mrs. Joan Rice was the hostess yesterday at a delightfully informal luncheon for a few of her friends. Those invited were Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey, Mrs. A. J. Gorn, Mrs. J. H. Young,
Mrs. Oscar L. Cox, Mrs. Ira H. Lewis, Mrs. C. E. Richards and Miss Ethel Paul.

George Y. Wallace, Jr., was the host last evening at a dinner at the University club before the bal masque, the guests were Miss Laura Shuler, Miss Helen Lloyd, Miss Gertrude McGrath, Mr. Rainford and C. S. McDonald.

The history section of the Ladies' Literary club will meet this morning at the club house, when Mrs. J. H.
Brown will read a paper on "The Construction of Italy Under the Romans." The subject of one-minute talks will be "The Namerines."

The Spirit of Liberty chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet today with Mrs. Thomas Weir, Mrs. F. C. Richmond will be the chairman of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gustin entertained a card club at their home last evening.

Mrs. Orson Howard was the hostess yesterday afternoon for the Quingenta club at her home on First avenue.

The sewing club met yesterday afternoon with Miss Florence Grant.

The seniors of the university will give a skating party tonight.

Dr. Edie of Grand Rapids, Mich., is expected shortly to spend the Christmas holidays with his daughter, Mrs.
E. S. Ferry.

Charles S. McDonald has returned from Portland, where he was last man at the Thompson-Taylor wedding.

Mrs. Harry David Gue expects to come west later in the winter to visit her brother and sister, W. H. and Miss Edith Shearman.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Child left yesterday for the City of Mexico, whence they will take a golf trip to Cuba and thence to New York.
